

If the county's expansion plan for Willow Run Airport comes to life, they'll need a bigger sign to "promote" the world's largest cargo airport.

Of Willow Run Expansion affects area

By HENRY CANTIN

The proposed $100 million expansion of Willow Run Airport into a major regional air cargo, general aviation facility is a project that has become one of the "hottest controversies" in the history of Van Buren Township.

The proposed expansion of the airport, located both in Ypsilanti and Van Buren townships not only "seriously" affects Van Buren Township residents, but also in a direct way, the residents of surrounding communities and in one way or other all of Wayne County.

The expansion, initially proposed and supported by the Wayne County Road Commission, owners and operators of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, based in

Romulus is strenuously objected to by Van Buren Township officials and voters who have rejected the proposed expansion in a May advisory vote by an almost 3 to 1 margin.

IN FEBRUARY, 1970, the Wayne County Road Commission made public its plans to expand Willow Run Airport into the world's largest air cargo and "reliever" for the Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

As proposed by the road commission, the expansion would require condemnation of 1,840 acres of land in Van Buren Township to create the planned international air cargo and general aviation facility.

City Council, Teamsters dispute Phase III

Wage increases still in limbo for Romulus employees

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

The hassle between Teamsters Union Local 214 and the Romulus City Council over wage increases to be paid union employees last July 1, and not paid to date, has been further muddled by Phase III of the Nixon economic plan.

Teamsters officials and city attorneys have been at odds over interpretation of Phase III, termed largely voluntary guidelines by government sources.

The attorneys maintain that 6 per cent and 6.5 per cent wage increases to be paid last July 1, and not paid to date violate the intent of Phase III.

WROTE ATTORNEY James C. Bruno, "Phase III only applies to adjustments made after Jan. 10, 1973. Adjustments which are built into contracts (covered by Phase I and II) signed prior to that date, which take effect upon the modification or termination of the Economic Stabilization Program are not permitted to become operative."

Counters Teamster official Walter Sacharczyk, business representative for Local 214, "Phase III, as we understand it, is nothing more than a watered down version of Phase II."

"President Nixon stated that he was instructing the Administration to be "liberal" with respect to the 5.5 per cent wage guidelines."

The legal firm thinks otherwise. "The existing contract is dated July 1, 1971, and any wage increases which it contains which exceed 5.5 per cent cannot be honored or paid without approval of the Pay Board," wrote Bruno.

THE UNION maintains that it has appealed to the Pay Board, which has been changed to the Wage Price Commission under Phase III, and that the appeal was lost in the change.

"It seems that the only areas of employment where increases in excess of 5.5 per cent are not put into effect are those areas only where the employer refuses to do so," wrote Sacharczyk.

The legal advisor says that the city is not obligated. "It is our opinion that except as specifically allowed by the Pay Board, the city of Romulus is obligated to pay only so much of each employee's wage rate as does not exceed his March 2, 1972 wage plus 5.5 per cent."

"It is our further opinion that (the section) which requires the percentage increases of July 1, 1972 and July 1, 1973 cannot be complied with by the City of Romulus on July 1, 1973 under Phase III as it now stands."

Task force says drop Development Center

A task force of county and state experts has recommended that the Wayne County Child Development Center, a residential school for mildly retarded children, be closed as of July 1, 1974.

The task force recommended that the children, presently numbering 243, be transferred to smaller community-based residential facilities or returned to their homes where feasible.

The task force report was received Tuesday, March 20, by the Human Resources Committee of the County Board of Commissioners.

THE COMMITTEE scheduled a public hearing on the report for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 28, in the City-County Building auditorium. Committee chairman Paul Silver said the purpose of the hearing would be to hear reaction by interested citizens and groups.

The task force, consisting of 12 state officials and three county representatives, was established last August at the request of the Board of Commissioners. Dr. Joseph C. Denniston, deputy director of the State Department of Mental Health, was the task force chairman.

The Child Development Center opened as the Wayne County Training School in 1926 on a 750-acre campus in Northville Township. It has a staff of some 275 and an annual budget of $4.2 million.

CENTER EMPLOYEES, the task force said, would be given the opportunity to apply for equivalent jobs in similar state institutions in Wayne County.

A relatively high employee turn-over rate at the state institutions should make sufficient jobs available, the report added.

The task force said development of programs for the educable retarded in school systems and the trend toward community-based residential facilities make the closing of the center feasible.

New community residential facilities may have to be developed to accommodate all the Center students and future placements, according to the report. The cost would be shared by the county and state.

IN ADDITION, the task force recommended that a referral center for all "troubled children" and their

Commission on Aging appointees announced

A steering committee of 25 citizens has been established to plan the functions of a proposed Wayne County Commission on Aging (WCCA).

Members of the steering committee were appointed by Robert E. FitzPatrick, chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, and include nominees submitted by board members.

The WCCA was established by the commissioners in January and is being structured to concentrate on solving the unique problems of the elderly.

IN ANNOUNCING the appointments, FitzPatrick said the steering committee is a temporary group which will develop objectives, organizational structure, and permanent membership of the WCCA.

Objectives of the WCCA will focus on needs such as health, housing, nutrition and transportation. The commission will also strive to stimulate more cooperation and planning between existing governmental and private agencies in order to develop better programs for the elderly.

Named as chairman of the steering committee is Margaret A. Hossack, executive secretary of the Detroit Commission on Aging. FitzPatrick also appointed chairmen to three subcommittees.

Professor Peter Ulintz was appointed to chair a subcommittee on organizational objectives, and Freida Gorrecht was named head of a subcommittee on organizational structure. Dr. Charles E. Morton is chairman of a subcommittee to develop recommendations for permanent membership of the WCCA.

PROFESSOR ULINTZ teaches in the School of Social Work at the Wayne State University and Ms. Gorrecht is director of the UAW Retired Worker Centers. Dr. Morton is pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church in Detroit.

"The county must now undertake measures to consolidate, coordinate and promote cooperation in creating a cohesive, comprehensive service delivery system," he stated.

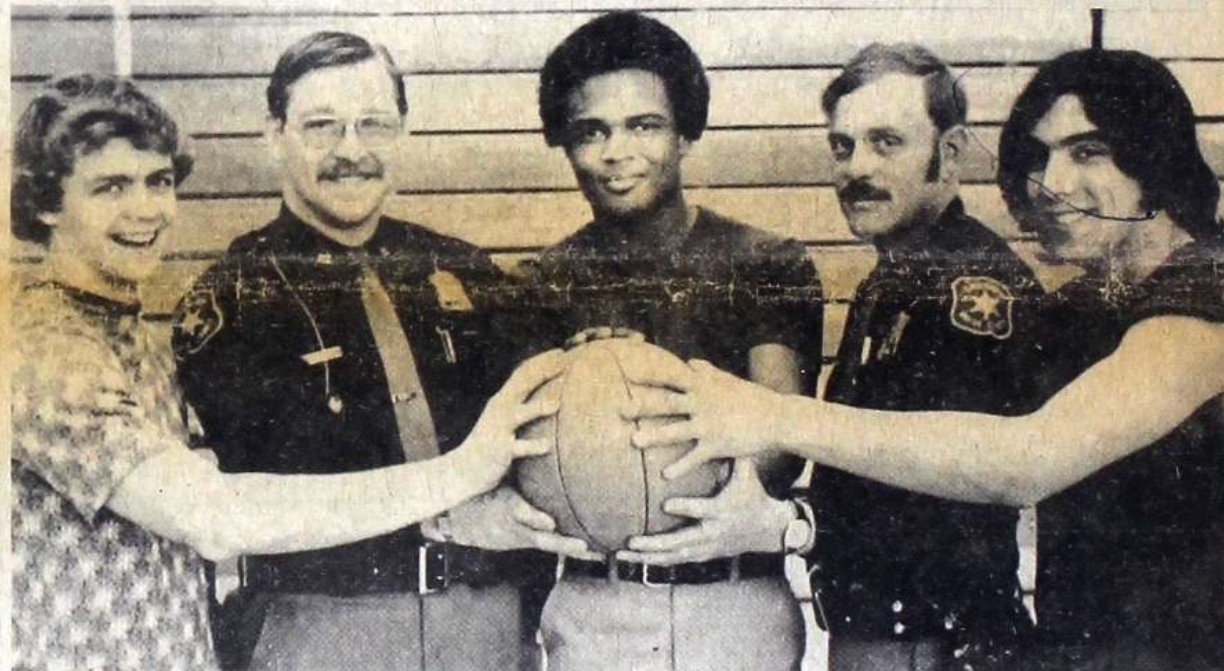

FitzPatrick and Detroit Commissioner Rose Mary C. Robinson were joint sponsors of the resolution which authorized the WCCA. The resolution notes that there are more than half a million Wayne County residents over age 55 who are "the most abused and neglected segment of our population in terms of service delivery."

Commissioner Robinson, D-Dist. 9, is also a member of the steering committee, along with Detroit Commissioners N. Frank Cylkowski, D-Dist. 12; Paul Silver, D-Dist. 14; and Roscoe L. Bobo, of Ecorse, D-Dist. 10.

OTHERS INCLUDE Prof. Leonard Stittelman of the Wayne State University Department of Gerontology, Msgr. Clement Kern of Holy Trinity Rectory, Mickey Allardice from Senior Center, Inc.; Mrs. Elizabeth C. Andrews, Schoolcraft College field worker; Cynthia B. Barrett of the County Office of Program Development and Coordination; Ellis Hayes, Ford Motor Company retiree; and Zena Baum of the Jewish Family and Children service.

Also, Olga Madaor of the UAW, Henry McCusker, Local 600 retiree; Grace Wade, Communities United for Action, Inc.; Mary Meade, Catholic Charities, Department of Aging; Cleopatra Walker, County Health Department; and Harry Wolf, Lutheran Social Services; and David Humphrey, Samuel Panzer and Charles Novak at the Romulus High school to see who can play better basketball. Proceeds from the game will go to the Romulus High School athletic fund. — Romulus Roman photo.

KIDS VERSUS POLICE — Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies and Romulus High School seniors get together for one last time before they meet on the court Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Police-student clash planned for Friday

Pro team scouts probably won't be waiting in the wings with glittering contracts Friday night when the Wayne County Sheriff's Department basketball team takes on the Romulus High School seniors.

But everyone will have a good time, the sheriff's men say.

The two teams will clash at 7:30 at the Romulus High School gym. A 75-cent admission charge will be donated to the school athletic fund.

LED BY their player-coach, Patrolman Lew Bryant, the sheriff's team has been practicing for nearly a month.

Bryant, a Romulus High all-state basketball player during his high school career, is returning to his old alma mater with victory in mind.

Along with Bryant, patrolmen Frank Burton, Campbell Lunsford, Robert Lambka, Mike Terpevich, John Young, Larry Sullivan, Frank Sieminski, Don Twitchell and John Laney will meet a team composed of Romulus High seniors.

The Romulus team hasn't been picked yet, says athletic director Ed Baum, but tryouts are being held.

"IT'S JUST seniors," he explained. "There won't be any varsity players on the team."

The clash is designed to get the kids and the cops together on common ground, Patrolman Ron Brown from the sheriff's department said.

"The team is composed of everybody in the department who was interested," Brown explained. "It helps community relations."

The basketball team is newly formed in the department, Brown said, but the sheriff's department football team has been active in the area for several years.

Brown said he hoped the basketball idea would catch on. Sheriff's department patrolmen spent quite a bit of time in the hospital after some key football clashes last year. "Maybe with basketball it'll be different," he added.

Faust proposes aid to libraries

A formula providing for state aid to local public libraries may be improved for the first time since 1938 if legislation introduced by Sen.

William Faust, D-Westland, is approved.

The proposed legislation would increase the state aid allowance to certain local libraries from five to 50 cents per capita and fully fund legislation providing state aid to local libraries for the first time in Michigan history.

"A SOCIETY which prizes learning and educational achievement certainly deserves much better public libraries than can be supported through a nickel per person in state aid."

"You can't even buy a package of gum today for a nickel."

The five-cent figure, he added, was established in 1938 — almost 35 years ago.

Under Faust's proposal, a public library is eligible for state aid if it received local support amounting to three-tenths mill and met minimum standards in the previous year.

Hospital names community director

Former Westland councilman

Russel J. Tuttle, 42, has been appointed director of community relations for the People's Community Hospital Authority.

The former Westland Councilman was appointed to the PCHA post March 22, ending a four-month search to replace former community relations director Raymond Clift, who died while serving in the post.

"IT IS A REAL honor to be selected from an outstanding field of 14 who applied for the job," said Tuttle at the time of his appointment.

"It will be impossible to take Ray Clift's place, but I will do my best to keep up the high standards established by him."

Tuttle is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he played varsity football.

He is a veteran of the Korean War, and a member of Westland's VFW Post 6986.

TUTTLE WAS Supervisor of the Editorial Department at the Bendix Corporation for 12 years and executive assistant to State Sen. James D. Gray (D-27th District) prior to taking the PCHA Post.

He and his wife, Donna, live in Westland with their son, Dan, who is a student at John Glenn High School.

HE HAS LONG been active in community affairs, serving on the Nankin Township Personnel Board, the first Westland Zoning Board of Appeals and the Westland Council.

He was chairman of the Zoning Board and served from 1969 to 1971 when appointed to the council.

Presently, Tuttle is serving as chairman of the publicity committee of the Annual Westland Spring Festival, sponsored by Westland.

HE BELONGS to the University of Michigan Club of Detroit and the Michigan Alumni Association, the Westland Civitan Club and the St. Theodore's Mens Club.

Tuttle will assume his post April 2, according to Leo J. Bonamy, director of personnel for PCHA.

Time is running out for buying licenses

If you're the type who doesn't enjoy waiting and you haven't purchased your new Michigan license plates, then Automobile Club of Michigan advises doing so now to avoid possible long lines on Saturday, March 31, the last valid day for displaying 1972 plates.

"License plate offices are virtually deserted up until the final three days before the new plate deadline, and vehicle owners can usually obtain them within several minutes after arriving," states Joseph L. Ratke, Auto Club licensing manager.

Ratke reminds that all Michigan passenger cars and motorcycles must have 1973 license plates displayed by April 1 or be in violation of state law.

"AN INCREASED sale of 650,000 license plates over a year ago at this time should ease long lines somewhat the final few days, but those individuals who always wait until the last day will have waits of up to 30 minutes at some license plate offices," Ratke points out.

The Department of State also filled 491,781 license plates requests by mail this year, a jump of nearly 200,000 from last year, the first time license were offered by mail in Michigan.

This year's mail order deadline was February 10, compared to December 31 the previous year.

"Most vehicle owners have been mailed a preprinted registration form by the Department of State," says Ratke.

"IT SHOULD be checked closely for errors with missing information completed and the certification on the reverse side filled out and signed. Cost of plates is printed on the form."

To obtain plates, vehicle owners must bring either the prepared renewal form or the certificate of vehicle title plus proof of public liability and property damage insurance.

Uninsured drivers must have an extra $45 for the Motor Vehicle Accident Fund.

TIME RUNNING OUT — Michigan motorists are reminded by Automobile Club of Michigan that their 2-year-old, mud-spattered license plates give way to shiny new 1973 blue and white models on April 1. Pretty Carol Marvin reminds Michigan motorists that Saturday, March 31, is the final day for displaying 1972 plates on passenger cars and motorcycles. Carol urges motorists to buy their plates now and avoid possible long lines the final day.

TB strikes older people

In old age, bodily defenses tend to break down and elderly people become vulnerable to a variety of ills. Active tuberculosis is one of those ills.

Many older people who develop active TB today were infected years ago when the disease was widespread, but they showed no noticeable symptoms. Gradually their bodies walled off the TB germs; white blood cells first encircled the germs, then special tissues, and finally calcium until TB germs were encased.

When the body's defenses weaken, however, the barriers around the germs start to crumble. Then the TB germs escape and multiply. Fatigue, weakness, coughing, and weight loss can be symptoms of active disease. Spitting up blood in the sputum and loss of appetite may be signs of well-developed disease. Drug therapy can cure disease; but many older people do not receive proper medical care.

Poor diet and failing general health are some of the conditions that help weaken the body's defenses. Diet is often sadly neglected by older people who may lack attention and money. Dietary requirements shift with age with fewer calories needed but just as much protein. Shopping and cooking is difficult and older people eat the wrong kinds of foods. Younger relatives and friends can take an increased interest in seeing that older people eat better and be healthier.

To find out more about ways to treat TB and stay well, contact the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, formerly the TB and Health Society.

The officers were named at the club's recent organizational session held at the home of Mrs. Betty Ottewill, 6920 Sheildon Rd., Belleville, the Welcome Wagon hostess.

The new and initial slate of officers are: Mrs. Esther Hanna, chairman; Mrs. Donis Pieti, membership chairman; Mrs. Patricia Foldi, treasurer; and Mrs. Christine Gemmill, secretary.

Lenten sermon

Death is walls between people

Note: The following is the fourth of a series of Lenten sermons by area pastors and leading churchmen. This week's article was submitted by the Rev. David E. Lee, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church in Belleville.

By REV. DAVID E. LEE

The Easter event is God's radical declaration to us that we are called to be free from death. We taste of death in all sorts of ways short of funeral death.

Death is the experience of being separated from life, and we experience it in loneliness, in illness and in despair.

We also experience death whenever we surrender our lives to a crutch: alcohol, other drugs, or work. We taste of death whenever we separate ourselves from our fellow man: when our anger hurts someone, when I avoid someone because they offend me. Death is walls built between people.

The call of Christ's resurrection is the invitation to live fully and to love fully - to be free from death.

Lent, as a time for anticipating Easter, is not a time to make ourselves feel bad. It is a time for critical, confronting self-examination.

A time to recognize the ways in which, by the crutches I use and the walls I build, I consign myself to death. Doing that, I can then begin to change - repent - and accept Easter's call to life.

Pre-kindergarten registration set

The elementary administration of the Van Buren Public Schools has announced procedures on the registration of pre-kindergarten children for the fall term.

School officials urged parents of pre-kindergarten children who will be five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1973, to register their children at pre-kindergarten registration days in their local school.

The registration will offer an opportunity for parents to talk to the kindergarten teachers, nurses and principals - the persons who will be closely connected with the new kindergarten.

WHEN REGISTERING their children parents must provide:

1. the child's birth certificate (or other legal proof of age).

2. Dates of the child received immunization.

3. Records of any communicable diseases and date of occurrence.

THE REGISTRATION is necessary to the administration for the planning of school assignments in the fall.

If a parent is unable to register in their own area, then register at any school in our district on the days indicated for registration.

Children living in the Independence Square, Van Buren Estates and Forest Park Subdivisions may be registered at the Haggerty Road Elementary, Quirk

Road Elementary Schools, or at the Edgemont Elementary School on the days indicated. Registration of pre-kindergarten children for the fall term is as follows:

Lions Club nomination

The Belleville Area Lions Club will hold its regular meeting at Rogalle's Supper Lounge, located at Haggerty Road and the I-94 Expressway March 28.

The meeting will be nomination night for the 1973-74 officers to be elected at the club's April 11 meeting.

Following the meeting, the movie, "What Do You Do When You See A Blind Person?" will be shown.

The club has purchased the film to be used as an aid for community education. Groups wishing to view it may do so by contacting Lion president Neil Terwilliger.

Three new Lions have recently been initiated into the club. They are Leo Gramlich, Sam Vicchy and Earl Selle. Annual White Cane Week will be from April 23-29. However, because of the Easter weekend, local Lions will conduct their street sales on April 13 and 14. Support your Lions projects: Proceeds support local sight conservation projects such as the annual glaucoma clinic to be held in May.

Art fair April 12

The South Junior High School, 45201 Owen St., Belleville, will present a student-faculty "Art Fair" in the cafeteria April 12.

families be established in Wayne County to "insure a comprehensive program for each child and family and easy access to the delivery of services."

The report defined "troubled" children as those with IQ's in the 70-90 range and retarded children as those with IQ's below 70. It noted the center students include both.

The task force gave four reasons for recommending that the Child Development Center be closed:

1. The physical plant is in poor condition and unsuitable for remodeling to reflect modern treatment programs.
2. The operating costs of the present program ($50-$60 per day per child) are very high and costs of improvements would be "intolerable and a waste of scarce resources."
3. Appropriate community programming can be purchased for $35 - $40 per day.

3. The location of the present facility is inappropriate because of the lack of public transportation and because 60 per cent of the patients come from Detroit.

4. The institutional environment which is inherent with a plant of (the center's) size in contrast to modern treatment programs and is detrimental to the growth of the individual.

CARE OF the children in community-based residential facilities and the referral center would be funded through the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Service Board, with 75 per cent state mental health funds and 25 per cent county funds.

Center students in time for the projected July, 1974, closing of the center.

County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick said the new setup would save the county "somewhere in the neighborhood of $1 million annually."

"Our first and foremost concern is for the children," he added. "We have been studying the Child Development Center since 1961. We have always felt there must be a better way, and this report says there is."

The Child Development Center is the only county-operated residential school for retarded children in the nation. It was founded at a time when community-based programs for the mildly retarded with behavior problems were virtually nonexistent. Such programs have been developed only in recent years, the task force noted.

PRESENT TERMINAL — Plans to expand Willow Run Airport into the world's largest air cargo facility are creating controversy between concerned home owners and the Wayne

The expanded airport would not only occupy 25 per cent of Van Buren Township, but would directly affect the remaining 75 per cent because of safety risk, pollution, loss of property values and traffic congestion according to officials.

Expansion would enable the transfer of all air cargo and all new non-scheduled flights by private planes from Detroit Metro Airport to Willow Run from 1980-85 and beyond, according to township officials.

THE PROPOSED expansion would cause condemnation of 770 homes, 70 mobile homes, 12 businesses, two schools, two factories, Van Buren Township Hall and one fire station.

In addition, a large portion of the development on the west end of Belleville Lake, including Knob-on-the-Lake apartment complexes would fall in the landing patterns, according to officials of the township.

Willow Run Airport is presently owned by the University of Michigan, which is prohibited from using educational funds for airport expansion. Under the proposal, ownership would be transferred to the Wayne County Road Commission if the plan is consummated.

Importance of the proposed airport expansion controversy is reflected in a request by State Sen. William Faust for area congressional leaders to hold a meeting on the subject.

As of edition time, no date has been set for this meeting.

In requesting the meeting on March 6, Sen. Faust charged that "millions of people" could be affected by the plan and added that the area's congressional delegation should meet as soon as possible with various local and state officials involved.

"If the proposal becomes fact, many residents in Van Buren and Canton townships will be affected along with numerous citizens in Ypsilanti Township," Faust told federal officials.

The proposal cannot become a reality without federal participation, approval and funding, Faust said.

Township supervisor nixes airport sprawl

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer repeated his strenuous objection this week to the $100 million expansion of the Willow Run Airport as proposed by the Wayne County Road Commission.

Proposed plans to expand the Western Wayne County airport into a regional air cargo, general aviation and relief facility for the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, based in Romulus, was first made public in February, 1970.

Gollwitzer, in spearheading the township's opposition to the airport expansion, which was also rejected last May 16 in an advisory vote by township residents, was critical of the WCRC proposal and branded suggestions made in relation to the airport expansion as being "absurd."

In a lengthy progress report dating back two years and detailing various steps taken by the WCRC, Gollwitzer stated:

Cargo airport

"About two years ago, the Wayne County Road Commission announced its thinking about making a very large cargo airport at the site of the Willow Run Airport."

"Since that time, the township government has been working on the proposal. First, we spent some time determining whether or not it would be good for the community. We then took a position against the large airport when we found the operation would be detrimental to our community."

This report is to try to bring the public up to date as to where we are at present.

"Our first move was to sponsor a meeting at which those vitally interested could hear James Davey of the Wayne County Road Commission about what to expect."

"Davey made no attempt to gloss over the terrific impact that such construction would have. But he did try to convince all concerned that they would be reimbursed for all losses, that there would be plenty of opportunity to oppose the idea at environmental hearings, etc. as the procedure unfolded and finally that if we did not want it, it would not be forced upon us."

Airport committee

"Our second move was to appoint an airport committee consisting of people of different views. After three or four months, the majority opinion was that the airport would not be good for Van Buren Township."

"Our third move was to resolve at the township board to do what we could to oppose the construction of the airport."

"A lawyer practicing in Washtenaw County was retained to help with this effort."

"Our fourth move was to put the proposal on the May 16 ballot. The wording was broad and did not refer to any specific plan. No effort was made to campaign for any particular vote. It was an advisory vote and the result was almost three to one against having a large active airport in that location."

"At this point, it was obvious that if the Wayne County Road Commission were to build some kind of super airport complex worthy of their reputation, it would have to be at Willow Run, otherwise, it would be out of the county."

"Also, that with today's attitude of the public towards airports, it would be very difficult to start an all-new airport but that an 'expansion' might be forced through."

False impression

"The word 'expansion' creates a false impression. By the time the runways are 'realigned,' the only thing retained is the land on which the new runways would be built."

"The proposal is a new airport built on 1,800 acres of existing airport plus 1,800 acres of other land - much already occupied. For these reasons, Van Buren Township was to be expendable. It was also obvious that Van Buren had two problems rather than one."

"Of course, there was the obvious problem of a million or more flights per year over our community both from Willow Run and the greatly expanded Detroit Metropolitan Airport. There was also a very serious detrimental effect on community and individual planning due to the threat of the final development."

"Much expansion of industry was postponed, hurting our tax base. Since few people will openly oppose the all-powerful Wayne County Road Commission, it is impossible to get anyone to say he is cutting back on his construction until he finds out what will happen to the airport."

Program 'inevitable'

"Although the WCRC talk of the program being 'inevitable' worried many people, it was not cause for legal action. We were advised to go to the county and try to get a recommendation on their part to withdraw their proposal. This was an obvious waste of time and effort but was needed to establish the fact that we couldn't stop it locally."

"We finally (after a month) got approval to speak to the Board of Wayne County Commissioners. The time was limited to 30 minutes which was enough."

"We asked two questions: 1- Would the WCRC give up their plan now that an official ballot indicated that we do not want it? 2- How would the WCRC proceed to publicize this withdrawal to get as much attention as their original announcement had."

"Every diversionary tactic known was used to get us off the subject. Finally, after bringing these two questions up repeatedly, I was given the 'what airport' treatment. Two commissioners claimed to know almost nothing about it."

"We declined the offer to wait and talk more about it since we were not there just to talk. We sent the commissioners packets on Belleville, Van Buren and the airport so they could see what we were talking about."

Letter series

"At this point began a series of letters to Davey, managing director of WCRC trying to get answers to the two questions. Finally, these were brought to a halt by a sort of cut-off letter in which I stated my impression of what he was telling me between the lines of double talk."

"During this (above) time, the WCRC had requested a letter of intent from the Wayne County Planning Commission and Southeastern Council of Governments (SEMCOG) to require funds of the Federal Aviation Authority (FAA) to make a study needed to get funds to construct the superport."

"They were denied on the basis that other studies should be made to see where the airport capacity should be increased. It infuriated them. About a year later, with plenty of time to apply pressure, the request went through both the Wayne County Planning Commission and SEMCOG with barely a ripple. As of the report, the application (for $180,000) has not arrived from FAA."

"Van Buren Township has labelled this the 'justification study' and we have taken strong objection to it. This comes from attending the first environmental hearing ever held under the new 1970 Federal Airport Legislation. An additional runway for Detroit Metro Airport was under consideration. While conducted with meticulous fairness, it was all predetermined."

Outcome 'inevitable'

"The smooth consultants with their polished rhetoric pooh-poohed the complaints of the landowners. The land was already 85 per cent purchased for the expansion. The outcome was 'inevitable' — We object to having our federal tax dollars spent to hire 'experts' to work against us."

"Calling on FAA again recently, we found that they believe that. The study is to be one to determine what to do with Willow Run."

"The Wayne County Road

Commission does not like to get any deeper into airports but is generously offering to do something with Willow Run Airport to keep from losing it."

"The FAA had never studied the airspace situation to determine whether two big airports could operate so close together. (We had been led to believe this was done)."

"It is amazing to see the sales approach used on FAA compared to the 'inevitable' approach used on the people of Van Buren calculated to get us to give up."

Legal obstacle

"Along the way, we have taken whatever steps we could to place legal obstacles in the way of a big airport. One such obstacle is the addition of an airport zone to our zoning ordinance. Theoretically this alone could prevent an airport expansion into areas not zoned for it. We have no idea what court or other action might change this."

"Present legislation proposed to take the zoning function away from local government to the state level might be the loss of this control. We are not putting much hope in any one device on a matter as important as this."

'Red' Always had a smile

They knew him as "Red." He was the kind of man who always had a smile — even when the going was rough.

"Red" is really Gerard T. Solo; a retired Mobil Oil Company foreman who died March 8.

Mr. Solo, 66, was born and raised in his early boyhood days in Ecorse. Living in Romulus most of his adult life, Mr. Solo resided on Barth Road.

An avid sportsman, Mr. Solo was a member of the Ten Lakes Sportsman's Club.

A close friend of the deceased said this about Mr. Solo: "He was a quiet man. He always had a smile and he practiced the credo of friendship every day of his life."

Mr. Solo is survived by his wife, Hazel; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret LaBell of Woodhaven and Mrs. Ilene DeHartogh of Romulus; four sons, Gerard T. Jr. of

Also 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Services for Mr. Solo were held March 10 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, New Boston. Interment was at Michigan Memorial Park, Flat Rock. Funeral arrangements were handled by the Baum Funeral Home, Romulus.

Griffins turn to turkey dinners

Food prices will continue to soar

By TOM OCHILTREE, Washington Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON — Members of the Nixon Administration expect fast climbing food prices to stabilize by the end of this year when efforts to stimulate farm production fully take hold.

So says Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich. He conceded, however, that between now and then the administration is going to have to face considerable public discontent. His own mail from Michigan reflects the frustration of housewives trying to keep within their grocery budgets.

Griffin discussed inflation problems and related economic issues with newsmen after returning from a White House meeting of Republican leaders in Congress.

"I AM deeply concerned about food prices," Griffin said. However, he defended the general thrust of the administration's policy which places Phase III guidelines around food processors, wholesalers and retailers but does not clamp a price lid on raw agricultural products themselves.

Such a lid would be counter-productive, Griffin maintained, since it would not encourage farmers "to produce more — which is what you really want."

Production cannot be stepped up overnight, he added. It takes two years, for example, to produce marketable steers.

Griffin said the government had taken a number of steps to bring more food to market including emptying bins of grain acquired through farm subsidy programs, lifting import quotas on meat and resisting pressures to increase price supports for milk.

THE REPUBLICAN congressional leaders were briefed by Herbert Stein, Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and John T. Dunlop, Director of the Cost of Living Council. President Nixon also took an active role in the discussions.

"We were told that food prices are going to get worse before they get better, but they are going to get better," Griffin told newsmen. He did not specify how high he thought they would go.

Griffin said the food price hike could complicate coming wage contract negotiations in industries across the country "since a union worker and his wife are more apt to notice a food price rise than the smaller overall increase in the total cost of living."

Administration sources pointed out that total living costs are lower in the United States than in other industrialized nations — a statement the White House is anxious to publicize to prove President Nixon's policies are on the right track.

GRIFIN said he personally felt it might have been better to keep the stricter controls of Phase

If another six months or a year rather than have gone to Phase III so soon.

"At our house we are having a lot of turkey lately," Griffin explained.

The senator said his wife, Marjorie, was keeping a sharp eye on the family food budget and doing selective buying at the supermarket like millions of housewives across the nation.

While the Griffin family did not intend to take part in a formal way in the proposed boycott of meat, Griffin said he supported the idea of bringing prices down through consumer pressure.

Airport expansion proposal must weigh total impact

Whether the proposed expansion at Willow Run Airport will ever get off the ground remains a moot question at this juncture.

While the proposed expansion would turn the Van Buren Township airport into the world's largest air cargo and regional airport — should expansion plow away "buildings, schools and houses" as is charged by the anti-expansionists.

The project, the brainchild of the Wayne County Road Commission, is intended to ease heavy air traffic at Detroit Metro Airport in Romulus.

State Senator William Faust, a Westland Democrat, said the $100 million expansion would affect "millions" of people. He said environmental factors would also have to be considered if the proposed expansion materialized.

The expansion of Willow Run would affect, in addition to Van Buren Township, the township of Canton and neighboring Ypsilanti Township — not to mention the surrounding populace of Western Wayne County.

Faust told The Daily Eagle he has requested that a meeting be held between local officials, road commission members and congressional representatives.

Hopefully, at the proposed session, a compromise might be reached on the governing of the expanded Willow Run Airport — if expansion ever comes.

In a recent advisory vote, Van Buren citizens thumbed-down the proposed expansion and by a wide margin.

But the final decision rests with the road commission, and it appears the county unit intends to go ahead with the expansion proposal.

Before the final decision is reached, every attempt should be made to satisfy all concerned parties — with special emphasis on protecting existing developments the airport expansion may seriously affect.

We do not stand in the way of air service expansion, nor do we condone the steamroller approach at getting government's will pressed into action — against the wishes of concerned area citizens.

The Westland senator assures this newspaper he will strive to get all the interested subjects in the controversy together for a meeting on the proposed expansion.

Let us hope the meeting will resolve the question — on a platform satisfactory for all concerned citizens.

Speaking of schools

Housing problem

By ROBERT L. MCCONEGHY Superintendent of Romulus Schools

Recently the Romulus Board of Education had the unenviable task of making a decision which it knew was not going to be popular.

The decision it had to make was going to affect the school attendance pattern of over 1,900 students. The school district is faced with a housing problem. Our Fourth Friday count this year exceeded 6,500 students and all available students space has been utilized.

The projected student enrollment for the fall of 1973 is 6,850. How to house these anticipated students was the agenda item which faced an appointed Student Housing Committee.

FOLLOWING A review of the committee report, the Board of Education in its wisdom decided to put into effect next fall the plan whereby only kindergarten through the fifth grade will be housed in the various elementary schools. Grades six and seven will be attending the Junior High School for five (5) hours and grades eight and nine will be attending the Junior High School for five (5) hours. This attendance schedule will free up needed classrooms at the elementary and high school levels.

The Board would have preferred not having been placed in the position of making such a decision, in as much as any decision which changes established patterns always proves unpopular. However, the Board of Education, acting upon an assessment of needed classrooms for the future, did run bond issues to build new schools in 1970 and again in 1971; both of these bond issue requests were turned down by the voters. Had either been approved, the above decision of the Board would not have been necessary.

The Board is now considering running another bond issue, however, even if it is successful, new classrooms will not be available for use prior to 1975.

THE FIVE (5) hours day plan for the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grade students will be effective for the 1973-74 school year, only. If the student population continues to increase, the Board will again be faced with a problem of student housing the following year.

A committee, chairman by the junior high school principal, has been appointed to work out the details to implement the plan outlined above.

Once the recommended plan has been accepted by the Board it will be publicized in a future column in this paper.

Meaning of togetherness

Charity without question is one of humanity's strongest weapons in bringing about peace, love and togetherness among one's neighbors.

Our local service clubs — Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs have and are the sponsors of many community-wide charitable projects and programs, oft times without fanfare.

Another illustration of such sponsorship by our service clubs was last Friday when the Metro Lions Clubs (Romulus), sponsored a bus load of blind bowlers to attend the Midwest Bowling Tournament in Chicago.

We think that these organizations are deserving of community-wide appreciation and continued support in their programs that make for better community living.

More than labor dispute cited in school bus issue

To the editor:

In reply to the letter to the editor that appeared in the Feb. 21 issue of the Belleville Enterprise, the dealings that are going on concerning the school board and the busing company is not all labor dispute.

Most of the former drivers were not only qualified bus drivers, but also taxpayers. As taxpayers, and being close to the situation, they could see how money was being wasted.

The bus company is a private concern. Any private concern is out for profit. It is a known fact that, if Van Buren was running the buses, it would cost over $100,000 less a year. Also, the two-way radios could have been purchased at a much lower cost and with a much wider range.

As it is now, if a bus goes on a field trip that is outside the radius of the radios, they are of no use.

A taxpayer would find it quite hard, if not impossible, to get operating figures from either the school board or the busing company.

In our mind, any person who sticks with bus driving has got to want the job and is concerned. There seems to have been quite a few drivers quitting the new company. How interested could they have been?

The buses the company has brought in on their own have fiberglass seats and pop out windows. The windows are illegal because they are unsafe. The majority of the buses the company is running are ones that were already in use by the Van Buren Township.

If the people who are fighting the school board win their dispute, it can only bring good—less money being spent and safer buses for the children.

Sometimes you have to look below the surface of anything before you know what is really there.

Blocked by snow

To the Editor:

Who is responsible for the planning to clear roads after an "unexpected" heavy snow fall, such as the one we had the weekend of March 17?

In our estimation, it was poor planning for the subdivision north of Wayne County Airport) especially when there had been snow warnings the day before.

We have three exists, Smith and Merriman, Middlebelt and Smith, and Middlebelt and Gardner. All three exists were completely blocked by piles of snow. Middlebelt and Merriman had been cleared, which was fine — if you could get to them.

If there had been an emergency, no fire truck or ambulance could have gotten through.

There were open areas on both sides where the snow could have been piled, instead of leaving it piled up where it actually blocked traffic. This situation was exasperating for many who had weathered the conditions on the streets to get to the main highways, only to find they couldn't get out, or turn around. Some had to back up a mile to get home.

Many people missed a day's work due to this situation. It seems there should be better planning for this kind of situation in the future. We're sure our dilemma wasn't the only situation that day.

What's your opinion on amnesty

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Editor

Recently in these columns this writer suggested that President Nixon alter his firm "no amnesty" edict to draft evaders who fled the country to avoid military service — allegedly to express their distaste for our role in Vietnam.

Several letter writers, and a few who telegraphed their thoughts via the telephone, raised objections to my suggested method of "One view on how to work off amnesty."

NOW WHAT'S wrong in sending the draft evaders to South Vietnam to serve in labor battalions to rebuild war-torn South Vietnam... for two years.

Should the President's firm edict of "never, never forgiveness" prevail, then those Americans who fled to foreign lands might have to depend on the Voice of America for "news from the homeland."

Congressman James G. O'Hara, of Michigan's 12th District, in comments inserted in the March 7 issue of the Congressional Record said: "Should my colleagues decide on a different course, I recommend for their consideration the proposal made recently by Mitch Kehetian, editor of The Daily Eagle, who suggested in a recent column that the draft evaders and deserters be allowed, in effect, to 'work off their amnesty' by serving 2 years in labor battalions assigned the task of rebuilding South Vietnam."

ACCORDING to latest White House sources, the number of American draft evaders numbers close to 10,000. If these young men, misguided by the so-called peace activists, want to return to America I still repeat they should be welcomed — provided they pay their dues to society by working for two years in labor battalions in South Vietnam.

Earlier this week, "home-bound" POWs stopped off at the Hickam Air Force Base in Honolulu, and they were greeted with cheers and in response, the thankful men sang "God Bless America."

As the weary POWs sang, Army Sgt. Isaiah R. McMillin of Midway, Fla., broke down and wept, clutching Old Glory with his left hand... and with conviction.

YOU MIGHT say McMillin, a black American who fought for his country and spent several harrowing years as a prisoner of the communists, may have been overcome with just plain emotion? But I would differ.

The tears were for joy at being a free man again and knowing he was headed for home — the USA.

Because of men like Sgt. McMillin, a no-clause amnesty plan for draft evaders is out of the question.

Two years of battalion work in South Vietnam might be an answer before full citizenship is granted to the more than 10,000 draft evaders.

What's your opinion?

Ignore the knock

NEW YORK (AP) — Opportunity knocks but once, they say, but sometimes it's better to turn a deaf ear to the door.

One of the times to let opportunity beat its knuckles in vain on your portal is when it comes to offer you a job you don't want.

Many people make a sorry brag that they undoubtedly have the worst job in the whole wide world. That couldn't be true for all of them. No matter how boring, vexing or worrisome your job is, you usually can look around and see someone who has a job so bad you wouldn't trade yours for it.

Here, for example, are a few jobs I wouldn't want to moonlight on — let alone work at them full time:

Quality taster at a library paste factory.
A mermaid at the aquarium.
A door-to-door anvil salesman.
A human fly with arthritis.
Resident dentist on an alligator farm.
An obstetrician for elephants.
A bra manufacturer during a rubber shortage.
Talent scout for a kiddies television show.
Superintendent of an old-fashioned county poor farm.
The official handshaker at a convention of octopuses.
Chairman of the entertainment committee at a national meeting of Mafia leaders.

And now do you still think you've got the worst job in the world?

Expansion is planned for GM

An expansion and modernization program at the GM Assembly Division plant at Ypsilanti has been announced by J.E. Godfrey, GM Assembly Division general manager and vice president of General Motors.

"The project is being undertaken to combine the present body and chassis assembly buildings and to provide for increased productive capacity," Godfrey explained.

MAJOR SEGMENTS of the program include:

Addition of almost 380,000 square feet of space, a 20 per cent increase.

Renovation of approximately 91,000 square feet of existing space.

Replacement of the plant's paint facilities.

Expanded employee facilities.

Annual Coin Show opens

The Wayne Coin Club will hold its 13th annual coin show at the Wayne Recreation Center, 3355 S. Wayne Road, Wayne on April 1. The doors will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Twenty dealers will display their collections, said show chairman, Dick Jackson.

Prizes will be awarded. Two major old coins will be given away, club member Warren Hix said.

Admission is free. For information, call Hix at 721-3321.

Godfrey said preliminary work on the project already has begun and building construction will be completed in time for start-up of production of 1975 model automobiles next year.

The plant, located on a 125-acre site between Tyler and Airport Roads, east of the I-94 Expressway, currently assembles Chevrolet Novas, Oldsmobile Omegas and Pontiac Venturas.

"When this expansion and modernization is completed it will be one of the finest automobile assembly facilities in the industry," Godfrey said. "The program will enable us to build passenger cars of even greater quality and will further our industrial anti-pollution efforts."

MAJOR EXPANSION — John C. Jackson (left) project engineer and O. F. Perkins, plant manager, discuss details of a major expansions and modernization program at the G.M. Assembly Division plant at Ypsilanti recently announced to civic leaders at a luncheon at the plant. Work on the project will continue through the summer of next year.

Youth for Christ film announced

The Huron Valley Youth for Christ will sponsor a showing of the movie, "The Cross and the Switchblade," at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 7, at Ann Arbor High School, Ann Arbor.

This film, taken from the best seller by the same name, is the story of one man's attempt to take Jesus Christ to the gangs of New York City. The film features Pat Boone in the role of Rev. David Wilkerson.

When a young country preacher tries to love and communicate with leaders from such gangs as The Lords and The MauMau's, there is sure to be action.

David Wilkerson's refusal to give up on the gangs most people felt were unreachable is an action-packed, exciting, and true story. Through the tangle of New York tenements, among young people who knew drugs and gangs to be the only way of life, Rev. Wilkerson brought the love of Jesus Christ and a concern for people that most gang members had never known before.

From this dangerous, unnoticed and usually unwanted concern, grew the ministry of Teen Challenge, a program of help for drug addicts and runaways that is today international in scope.

The public may attend. There is no admission charge.

On Thursday, March 15, 100 Girl Scouts, Brownies, Juniors, and Cadettes, ranging in age from seven to 15 years, attended a banquet with their mothers at Hayti Elementary School in Romulus. There were seven troops in attendance from Gordonier, Hayti and Romulus Junior High. Spaghetti and meatballs were supplied from troop a Funny Fashions Show were presented by the Junior Troop which also presented a friendship pin to Mr. McLendon.

New troop and American flags were given to the Brownies by the V.F.W. Auxiliary Post No. 5061 and, in return, the troop gave a sponsorship award to the Post. After the Brownies had sung the "Bumble Bee Song", the evening was closed with the Friendship Circle and taps.

The girls from both troops were responsible for decorating the school showcase for Girl Scout Week.

Happy birthday torte -- for the adult male

Spicy Birthday Torte

Birthdays aren't birthdays without cakes, of course. For an adult male, no bakery masterpiece trimmed with sugary astronauts will be much appreciated, nor will the musical cake stand that so delights a child. A fine homemade cake is what's needed.

Since most men are fans of spice cake, make a Spicy Birthday Torte, impressively four layers high. It's a unique cake in that crushed fortified oat flakes, which are folded into the batter, give the cake interesting flavor and a rather "tweedy" appearance, just right for a masculine birthday. The fluffy brown sugar frosting has spices which echo those in the cake. This luscious cake may well start a yearly tradition at your house.

So it's all right if you cheat a bit on the number of candles, but just don't forget the date.

- 2 1/2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
- 2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/8 teaspoon ginger

- 1 cup vegetable shortening *
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk *
- 1 cup crushed Post Fortified Oat Flakes
- 3 egg whites
- Birthday candles (optional)

*To use butter or margarine, decrease milk to 1 cup.

Sift flour with baking powder, salt, cinnamon, and ginger.

Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar; cream until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Blend in vanilla. Then alternately add flour mixture and milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in crushed oat flakes. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks will form; then carefully fold into batter.

Pour into two 9-inch layer pans which have been greased and floured. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes, or until cake tester inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pans 10 minutes; then remove from pans and finish cooling on racks. Split each cake layer to make 4 thin layers. Fill and frost. Decorate with birthday candles.

Spicy Sea Foam Frosting

- 2 egg whites
- 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash of ginger
- Dash of salt
- One-third cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine egg whites, sugar, cinnamon, ginger, salt, and water in top of double boiler. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until thoroughly mixed — about 1 minute. Place over boiling water and beat constantly at high speed of electric mixer or with rotary beater until frosting stands in stiff peaks — about 7 minutes. (Stir frosting up from bottom and sides of pan occasionally with rubber scraper, spatula, or spoon.) Remove from boiling water. For a smooth and satiny frosting, pour at once into a large bowl for final beating. Add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread — about 1 minute. Makes about 5 1/2 cups frosting.

MISS BRAKE

June 9 wedding planned

The engagement of their daughter, Patricia Louise, and Gregory Allen Jamison is announced by Mr. and Mrs. William M. Brake of 2257 Rawsonville Road, Belleville.

A 1972 graduate of Belleville High School, the bride-elect is currently employed by the Fuller Brush Company of Wayne.

Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Alma Mary Jamison of 16520 Sumpter Road, Belleville, and Dee A. Jamison of 41021 Old Michigan Avenue, Wayne, where he resides. He was graduated in 1972 from Belleville High School and is now working for the Ford Motor Company at Wayne.

St. Anthony's Catholic Church has been reserved for the couple's June 9 wedding.

Co-workers say good-bye

Fred Stanley was feted by his co-workers at the De Vilbiss Company of Belleville on Thursday, March 15. The group surprised Fred with a going-away party and invited his wife, Joyce, to be a special guest.

The honoree left the company the following day to take up his new post as sales manager for Craftline Corporation of Maumee, Ohio, manufacturers of quality wood windows.

Bill Loyd discusses summer recreation at Junior Study Club

The Belleville Junior Study Club held its March 21 meeting at the home of Sharlene Tator of High Street. Co-hostesses for the evening were Martha Conley and Sue Stevens.

Bill Loyd, Director of the Van Buren Recreation Program and a teacher at South Junior High School, gave an interesting talk about the summer recreation program which Van Buren Township is supporting. Although plans are incomplete as yet, he said that playground activities, swimming, dancing, and gymnastics would be offered as part of a full and varied program for both children and adults.

At the business meeting which followed, the group decided that Girls Place will be closed for now with hopes to try a new program for the summer. Plans for the annual card party were discussed with Shar Tator accepting the hope chest chairmanship.

Grasshopper pie, served with coffee and tea, carried out the green and white color scheme of the dessert table.

Credit cards: extra cost or convenience?

When a retail store introduces credit card sales (like Master Charge and Bank Americard) do prices go up?

And, if prices go up do cash customers end up paying for a consumer convenience they don't even use?

According to one economist, the answer to both these questions may be "yes." At the present, credit card customers and cash customers pay the same price for goods in a retail store that honors both kinds of sales. But the credit card customer gets an extra convenience - 40 to 45 days of free credit.

And who pays for this service, asks Dr. Dwight Jaffee, a Princeton University economist.

He answers the question in a paper entitled "Are Credit Cards Inflationary?" The paper was presented at Michigan State University during an economist department seminar.

He pointed out that a bank extends the credit and charges the retailer three or four percent for providing this service. So, at the outset, the retailer is paying for credit card convenience.

But, says Jaffee, the retailer has to find a price for his goods that will cover the service charge and allow him to make a profit too.

Whether or not he raises the price of his goods after introducing credit card sales, says Jaffee, depends on what happens to consumer demand. Consumer demand, he points out, may rise, or fall, or it may remain the same.

According to Jaffee, if consumer demand for goods remains the same, the cash price will probably be the same. If demand goes up, there will be an increase in the cash price. But if demand falls, then the cash price will follow - presumably to lure back cash customers.

Jaffee noted that about 50

Mobile home size increases

During 1971-72 the average size of a mobile home was 780 to 900 square feet, the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association reported recently. This represents a 2 per cent increase over the previous year.

Windows taken for granted

If you look through a window and never see it, you're missing a lot.

Windows are often taken for granted. But, their contribution to home comfort and beauty is too great to overlook.

When choosing windows, be sure they offer the best available benefits: good style, visibility, ventilation and insulation.

OPERATING, or ventilating, windows are important year-round, even in air-conditioned homes. Invigorating fresh air circulation is as vital to home comfort in winter as cool breezes are in summer.

In the artificial climate of air-conditioned homes, fresh air provides welcome relief.

Casement windows of pine, which open out at a 90 degree angle, are popular ventilating windows. They are often used in combination with fixed sash.

Also effective as ventilating units are awning windows, which open up and out, and hoppers, which open in and down. Even in rainy weather, awning units can be left open for ventilation.

EFFECTIVE home insulation requires windows with good insulating capabilities. Engineering tests show that wood sash windows with insulating glass and factory-applied weatherstripping substantially cut heat loss and keep rooms comfortable year-round.

By promoting efficient use of heating and cooling systems, the windows also help conserve fuel and reduce costs. Use of insulating glass, available in all styles of ponderosa pine windows, eliminates the need for storm sash. Good visibility often depends on choice of window styles and proper window placement. Bow and bay windows generally afford the largest glass expanses. Casements and sliders offer uninterrupted glass areas, and are often used in series for more extensive views. Awnings and hoppers stacked one atop the other can open up a whole wall to the outdoors. A rule of thumb for proper window placement is to set them at eye level.

This means that in living and dining rooms, where people sit most of the time, windows should be set lower in the wall than in kitchens, where people are most likely to stand.

Ventilation often overlooked

As air conditioning is used increasingly in homes, an essential function of windows — ventilation — is sometimes overlooked.

The fact is, however, that no home should lack good ventilating windows.

The circulation of fresh air is essential to comfort and health. And, even in a fully air-conditioned home, there are times when efficient window ventilation is welcome and desirable.

A leading window manufacturer, reminds homeowners that windows must be "planned" to provide the best ventilation.

AIR CIRCULATION within a house results from differences in air pressure. The air "moves" from windy (high pressure) sides of the house to less breezy (low pressure) sides.

To take the best advantage of air movement and assure efficient ventilation, Andersen suggests the following:

—Locate windows where they will "catch" prevailing breezes — in walls where breezes strike and around which air moves.

—Make ventilation openings (the operating sash of windows and patio doors) more than 10 per cent of the floor area of a room.

—Locate windows so as to allow the best movement of air across the room and within the level at which occupants sit and stand.

This means, for instance, that windows should be placed away from exterior corners and usually in the lower, rather than the upper, sections of the wall.

—Choose window styles with good ventilating capabilities. Casement windows, for example, swing outward at a 90 degree angle for maximum air flow. (Non-operating fixed-sash is often flanked with casements to provide ventilation for picture windows.)

Sliding windows provide somewhat less ventilation than casements, because only half of the window can be opened at one time.

SHOW INDIVIDUALITY — One way to add a touch of individuality to your home is through the selection of doors that set a tasteful tone.

Shown above are multi-paned French doors of pine, available in stock sizes at local lumber dealers.

Authenticity enters through panel doors

Uniqueness is one way to express good taste. Authenticity is another.

In selecting fashionable wood panel doors for your home, either route is right.

For instance, instead of a drab front door, similar to all the others on the block, consider an unusual Mediterranean-style entry of pine.

THEY HAVE as many as 32 panels — some exquisitely carved — with rich detailing and ornate grillwork. They'll look custom-made but are actually available in stock sizes at local lumber dealers.

For the tasteful touch of colonial authenticity, Cross-and-Bible wood panel doors are available.

They duplicate original designs, with four upper panels that form a cross, and two lower panels that depict an open book.

Midway between Early American and exotic decors are more traditional designs such as four, six and eight panel doors topped with fan or cathedral lights.

THERE ARE also handsome contemporary styles with large, centered panels and classic French doors with many glass panes.

Most pine entrances are available at local building materials dealers as complete packages.

This includes the wood panel door (or wood duplicate doors for double entries) and the appropriate "matching" features such as overhead pediments, pillars, side panels and sidelights.

They come ready to be assembled for easy installation, and provide a relatively inexpensive way to enrich the entire house exterior.

Shutter accents window

The homeowner's desire for low-maintenance exterior shutters often leads him to compromise on authentic appearance.

Most homeowners recognize that shutters can provide an attractive accent for windows and doors, adding color, dimension and horizontal lines which improve a home's appearance.

But in trying to eliminate painting, they have often traded in a paint brush for artifice.

TOO MANY low-maintenance shutters are improperly scaled and detailed, or will quickly warp or dent.

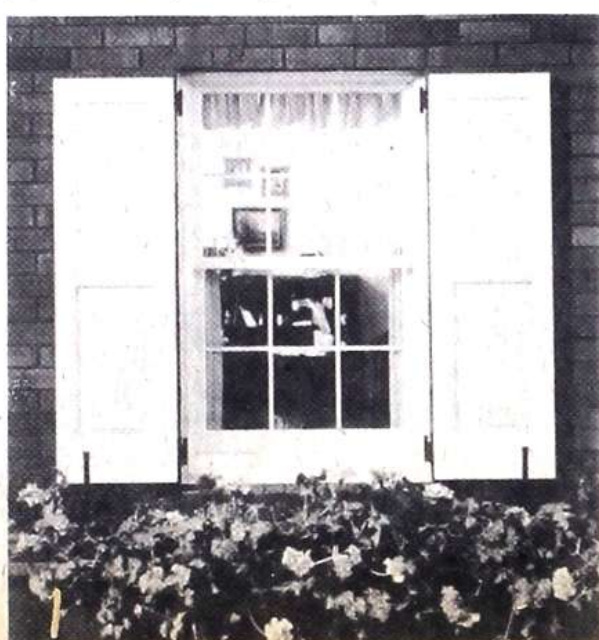

In recent years a major window manufacturer, has investigated hundreds of traditional American homes in a study of shutter styles.

The study led to the new perma-shield shutters recently introduced.

These low-maintenance shutters are available in panel and louver styles, in a choice of white or black. Rigid vinyl, bonded to preservative-treated wood for strength and rigidity, reproduces even the wood grain and joints.

INSTALLATION hinges are pre-drilled for easy hanging.

The shutters, marketed through local lumber yards are available in sizes compatible with low-maintenance perma-shield windows and gliding doors, as well as with other stock windows.

LOW CARE SHUTTERS — Low-maintenance shutters with the authentic appearance of traditional panel and louver shutter styles have been added to a leading manufacturer's line.

'Glass' accidents are preventable

Thousands of children are injured each year by accidents involving glass.

Studies estimate that a "glass" accident occurs every two minutes in the United States. Most victims are under 15 years of age.

To eliminate one source of possible danger, 30 states are considering legislation which would require use of safety glass in large glass areas such as patio doors. Eighteen states already have such laws.

MANUFACTURERS of wood sash patio doors have long urged consumers to choose safety glass for patio doors and large glass area windows. In stock patio doors made of pine, safety glass now is offered as a standard feature.

The industry-wide move to standardize safety glass is due to the increasing popularity of wood sash patio doors and the availability of effective safety glass.

The tempered glass used in patio doors, for example, has three to five times the impact resistance of ordinary single glazing. If it should break, it crumbles into harmless pellets.

TEMPERED double glazing, therefore, multiplies the benefits of wood patio doors with insulating glass. Combined with weatherstripping and wood sash, insulating glass provides maximum protection against condensation and heat loss through large glass areas. Rooms remain comfortable all year round, glass stays clear, and views are unhampered.

An easy access to backyards, patios, decks and porches, patio doors also open the house interior to the outdoors. The seasonal beauties of nature are there for all to behold.

With standard safety glass in wood patio doors, such views need not be a scene of tragedy.

FOR FURTHER assurance of safety, homeowners should insist on safety glass for large picture windows and the glass in storm doors.

Outdoor living fetish

Outdoor living is practically a fetish with Americans. Urbanites buy country lots whenever they can. Suburbanites seek the outdoors right in their own backyards.

Proof of this affection for nature is the popularity of patios, where families can loaf, entertain and dine al fresco — all with homesite privacy.

The fun of outdoor dining has, in fact, led to the practice of locating patios close to or adjoining the kitchen.

THIS SAVES time and steps between the cutting and groaning boards, simplifies serving, and gives workaday kitchens a refreshing outdoor dimension.

Ready access outside is generally provided by wood sash patio doors.

Stock patio doors of pine, obtainable at local lumber dealers, have safety glass as a standard feature.

They are obtainable with insulating glass to cut heat loss through the large glass area and assure kitchen comfort year-round.

INSULATING glass combined with the natural insulating quality of wood sash also helps avoid condensation, which can be a special problem in overheated kitchens.

Patio doors offer other kitchen benefits. They make the room lighter, brighter and visually larger.

MESSY CONDENSATION — The single-glazed window (left) is subject to messy condensation caused by cold outside air striking a window warmed by indoor heat. The pine window with insulating glass (right) stays clear and dry. Used with wood sash and weatherstripping, insulating glass keeps window temperature stable. This avoids the cause of condensation.

Pick window for ventilation

If you don't know what a job entails, you'll have a hard time finding the right applicant to fill it.

The same is true of building products. Know what they should provide before you select one.

For instance, many homeowners are not aware of the benefits a modern wood window can offer. Here's a rundown:

—VISIBILITY — this seems an obvious advantage. But, note that some styles are especially designed for maximum viewing.

These include: casements, sliders, bows and bays, and fixed-sash or "picture" windows (often flanked with operating casements to provide ventilation).

Sliding glass patio doors also offer wide visibility.

All are available in stock sizes of pine at local lumber dealers or building supply stores.

—VENTILATION — casements get highest marks here, since they open outward at a wide 90-degree angle.

They operate with an easy-to-reach handle, making them ideal for awkward locations such as above sinks and countertops.

Hoppers, which open in and down, and awnings, which open up and out, are also excellent ventilating styles. Awnings can even be left open in the rain.

—INSULATION — an important benefit, because heat loss through windows can skyrocket heating and air conditioning costs, and waste fuel and electricity.

According to engineering tests, the best window insulation is provided by wood sash windows with insulating glass and factory-applied weatherstripping.

Messy condensation can be prevented

For romantics, the foggy, foggy dew is the stuff songs are made of. But for homeowners, foggy window condensation hits a sour note.

Condensation occurs when cold outside air strikes a window heated by warm indoor air.

The clash causes beads of moisture to form on the inside sash and pane, and to drip onto sill, wall and floor.

SERIOUS water damage can result. (In summer, when hot outdoor air hits windows cooled by indoor air conditioning, condensation forms on the outside of the window.)

Resultant damage is to exterior paint and sidewalls. Instead of singing the blues about condensation, wise homeowners avoid it. The key is selection of windows with sash materials that maintain stable temperatures in all kinds of weather, rather than reacting to heat or cold.

WOOD sash, which does not conduct heat, stays "stable." Metal sash, which conducts heat readily, turns hot or cold depending on the temperature to which it is exposed.

Another measure of a window's resistance to condensation is the insulating capability of the glass. Double-glazing (insulating glass) in weatherstripped wood sash windows, such as ponderosa pine units, offers excellent protection.

In tests of comparative efficiency, condensation formed on metal sash windows when the outdoor temperature was 20 above zero. But pine windows stayed clear and dry in frigid outdoor temperatures of 30 below.

The qualities that make a wood sash window effective against condensation are essentially insulating capabilities.

SUCH WINDOWS, therefore, also offer maximum protection against heat loss — and fuel waste.

The critical need to conserve the nation's fuel and energy supplies becomes another reason for proper selection of windows.

Help in choosing windows that fight condensation — and help save fuel — is contained in a handy "condensation calculator."

It lists degree days for various parts of the country and indicates the best humidity levels and glass and sash combinations to combat foggy windows.

By ANDY LANG

Q. - We have an old dining room cabinet that is being replaced and which we plan to use in a child's room. There appears to be a varnish finish on it. Can I paint right over it or must the old surface be removed first? The old finish is in excellent condition.

A. - It isn't necessary to remove the old finish if it's in good shape. However, paint will not adhere satisfactorily over wax or polish or a glossy surface. Your first task, therefore, is to go over the surface thoroughly with a cloth saturated in turpentine one of the wax removers. Rub vigorously. Use a second dry cloth to wipe off any residue. If there is even the slightest gloss to the finish, use a fine grade of sandpaper or steel wool to remove it. Wipe the sanded areas again with turpentine.

There is an alternative to this method. You can buy a conditioning liquid which is applied to the surface just before painting. This serves the double purpose of removing the old wax or polish and dulling the surface.

Q. - Some years ago I put up wallpaper in a room and got pretty good results. I now have a similar job, but this time I'm going to use a fairly expensive embossed paper. Is there anything different about hanging this kind of paper?

A. - The over-all technique is the same. About the only difference is that, with embossed paper, it isn't wise to smooth down the seams with one of those seam rollers. Instead, pat down the seams with a sponge, quickly wiping off any paste that oozes out.

Give nature a hand and improve lawn

Winter isn't your lawn's greatest friend, but spring can be. Particularly if you will give nature a hand.

That period when the disagreeable weather of the winter months is reluctantly leaving and the air is lighter and warmer is an ideal time to take the few steps which will make your lawn bounce back in a hurry.

As dedicated gardeners know, your lawn is not readily responsive to treatment and care while the soil is still frigid. However, you can get it ready early to take advantage of the first prolonged spell of good weather that arrives.

A PROBLEM of lawns at this time of year is bare spots which may be a result of heavy use in the summer months or the use of pathways during the winter months when the grass was subject to damage, even from infrequent use.

Secondly, some lawns will be suffering from the application of salt on sidewalks, streets and driveways during icy or snow conditions.

When repairing your lawn, the recommended first step is to remove the thatch. Thatch is the build-up of old grass clippings, dead grass plants and other materials that collect at the roots of your grass over a period of time.

IF LEFT on the lawn it will bake into a hard crust in the summer heat and not only prevent water from getting to the grass roots, it will be a formidable barrier to the entrance of fertilizers you may apply.

An accumulation of thatch will, therefore, cause the wasting of not only water and fertilizer, but will keep you from having truly pretty green turf.

The best way to remove thatch is to rake the lawn vigorously with an implement which has either metal or very stiff tines. Once this step is completed — and if the soil is still not soft — mow the lawn.

MOWING at this time will level off the high spots that often are more vigorous than the remainder of the lawn. Frequent use of particular spots by pets or areas which hold soil nutrients produce these clump-like places on the lawn.

Left unmowed, these spots will flourish and grow while the remainder of the lawn lags behind. This results in a ragged, unsightly appearance.

Once the lawn is de-thatched and mowed, you are ready to apply seed in bare or winter-thin spots.

Seed may be sown with a hand-operated machine or the small cart type that is usually readily available at a garden supply store or nursery.

IF YOUR lawn is exceptionally thin and in need of complete coverage, it is always safest to go over it first in one direction and then at right angles with yet another pass to insure even seed distribution.

Following sowing, it is always a good idea to gently rake the lawn as a means of getting the seed into the ground. Naturally the seed will not produce satisfactory results if it rests on top of existing grass plants.

Selection of the seed used in any lawn mixture is important to the homeowner. The demand today is for fine-bladed grasses such as the bents, fescues and bluegrasses which are ideal for home lawns.

They are, however, generally considered slow starters by comparison with ryegrass. Many lawn seed mixtures contain a percentage of ryegrass because it is not only one of the more economical of grass seeds, it is also one of the fastest to germinate.

NORMALLY Linn Perennial ryegrass will germinate in 10 to 14 days, or even less under ideal conditions. This means it can be used to develop quick, green cover when this is desirable. Once established, it is a tough grass which will stand up to heavy foot and tricycle traffic.

Particular care should be given to areas which have been worn bare and packed hard. On such spots the soil should be tilled to a depth of several inches prior to the sowing of the seed.

Ideally the seed will then be lightly covered with loam, peat moss or other material. This top-dressing will not only keep the seed from being eaten by birds, it will keep the seed warmer during the chilly nights and thus aid in more rapid germination.

For the best information on how much seed you should use, consult a seed dealer, garden supply store or nursery.

Elegance is sum of small things

Elegance is often the sum total of small things. For instance — the gracious look of small, multi-light windows.

Homeowners find the small-pane appearance so appealing that they are using it with contemporary as well as colonial window styles.

Often, the "look" is achieved with convenient removable grilles available with ponderosa pine windows and patio doors.

Obtainable in rectangular or diamond shapes, and in wood or vinyl, removable grilles subtract work while adding beauty.

Grilles snap over the inside glass surface, then snap off leaving a single easy-to-clean

Closet on wall

Make space for closet overflow by building a shallow utility closet along the wall or in a hallway. Conceal the closet with folding wood louver doors.

Construction costs down

Site-built home construction averages $15 - $18 per square foot, almost twice the cost of mobile home construction, according to the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association. During 1972, mobile home construction costs averaged between $8.50 and $10 per square foot.

The dancers are an honor unit of scouts who have the objective of preserving Indian lore and rustic camping. They are under the leadership of Max Nelson from Romulus.

Ray O'Neil, district chairman, presented former Cubmaster Ed Lauth with the Scout's Key Award. Cubmaster Brehmer presented the following awards:

Larry Fleeman, wolf badge and gold arrow; Tom Lindemann, gold arrow and two silver arrows under wolf; Ken Duda, wolf badge and a gold and a silver arrow; Walter Dunayczan, gold arrow under wolf; Greg Elliott, John Kuchta, Joe Stupelkoski and Douglas Traskos all received dinner cords.

Jaycees ready for jelly sale

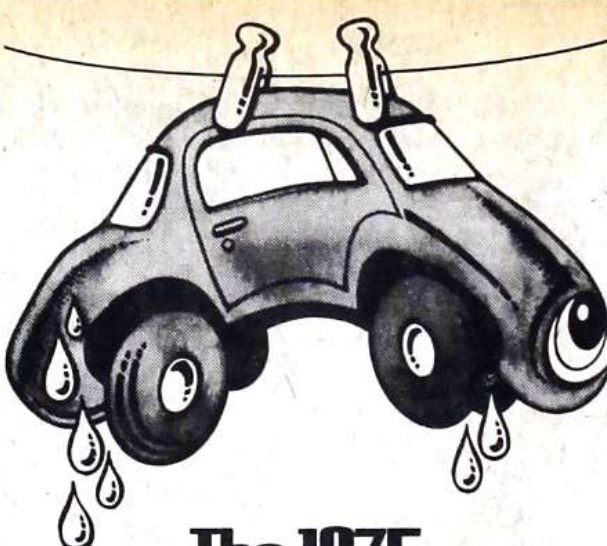

Jaycee Mike Pawelak has informed the Roman that all is in readiness for the project known as "Jelly Week".

Purpose of the event is to use sales of jelly preserves in the Romulus area to help the Western Wayne County Retarded Children's Association.

The jelly project has been adopted by the Michigan Jaycees as a whole, with 110 clubs participating statewide. Hopefully the state goal of $200,000 can be reached during this one-week canvass which runs from March 26 to April 1. In each case proceeds are earmarked for some deserving group.

In Romulus, 30 Jaycees will be involved in distributing the peach and grape preserves primarily, on three occasions. Friday night sales locations will be in operation at both Manufacturers Bank in Romulus and Wyandotte Savings on Eureka Road. Saturday and Sunday Jaycees will go door to door in the Romulus area which has been divided into five major sections.

Theme of the event is "All God's Children." Romulus Jaycees have ordered 4,800 jars of preserves which will be sold at $1 a jar.

The 1975 auto emissions standards: do they represent "overclean"?

We believe they do. And the reasons why can be found in the March issue of Motor News, official publication of Automobile Club of Michigan.

We want cleaner air. Everybody does. But the present standards mandate auto engines that are cleaner than clean at prices you won't want to pay—up to $1 for a gallon of gas ... up to 40 percent reduction in gas mileage ... the possible rationing of gas ... and worse, engines that could stall out as you try to cross a street or highway.

What are the alternatives? Find out by joining informed Triple-A members reading the March Motor News. We'll send you a FREE copy.

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND ...

There isn't a bank in the country that says it has unfriendly service. After all, who'd want to bank with a bunch of grumps?

But at WSB, we don't think that a smile and a pleasant "good morning" is all there is to friendship. That's just the beginning. From there you go to caring.

At Wyandotte Savings Bank, we get involved...in both our customers and the communities where we're located. We get involved in helping people select the best possible banking services for their particular needs. We know that incomes and goals vary widely. Banking arrangements that are right for one person, aren't at all suited to another.

That's the reason that we like to sit down and talk about the different kinds of services we have available. A lot of people are surprised at the variety of accounts that a full service bank like Wyandotte Savings Bank has to offer. Come in and visit awhile. You don't have to be a WSB customer to find out what we can do for you and your family. Friends help each other and all of our customers know by our actions that at Wyandotte Savings Bank, they've got a friend.

MRS. JOANN FISHER

Nursery appoints director

Mrs. JoAnn Fisher of 34795 Michele Dr., Romulus, has been appointed director of the Durbin Day Nursery, located at 27975 Eureka Rd., Romulus. The announcement of Mrs. Fisher's appointment, previously a teacher at the nursery, was made by Clyde A. Carpenter, president of Children's World of Michigan, operator of the Durbin Day Nursery.

Mrs. Fisher brings a wealth of teaching experience to her new assignment. She earned a bachelor of science degree in elementary education at William Jennings Bryan College in Dayton, Tenn., and has done graduate work at Eastern Michigan University. Holder of a Michigan teacher certificate, Mrs. Fisher has taught first, second and fourth grade children in public schools as well as working with pre-schoolers at the Durbin center and previously at the Bozeman Day Care Center in Montana. Mrs. Fisher is the mother of three children - ages 11, 8 and 2.

The Durbin Day Nursery offers full day and half-day educational programs for 2½ to 5 year-old children in a cheerful new building opened in June, 1972.

Enrollment, she said, is currently approaching capacity.

An open house is being planned for Saturday, April 14, to provide an opportunity to introduce Mrs. Fisher to the community.

In announcing the gift, Perkins said, "that General Motors is very pleased to participate in this building program and that all benefit from the Boys Club activities."

"The young men who participate today in Boys Club program benefit from their experience and training and the Ypsilanti community will benefit from them as leaders in the future," he added.

Chamber endorses proposal

The board of directors of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce has approved a resolution endorsing the millage renewal proposition of the Van Buren Public School District up for voter decision March 28.

The school district is seeking and urging voter approval of a 5.5 mill property tax levy renewal in the special March election.

The chamber's resolution said, in part, "We have a fine school system and want to keep it that way. A community without a good school system suffers in many ways."

The chamber's millage endorsement was taken at the February meeting of the board of directors.

Third concert set for tonight

By TOM KETCHUM

Concert Three of the Family Symphony Series will be presented at 7:30 tonight in the BHS Auditorium. There is one more concert after this to be given by the symphony band on April 13. Tonight's show also will include the New Belvil Jazz Group, Marching Society and Students' Conservatory Band.

Tickets are $1.

The choir has rescheduled it's concert for April 7, due to the fact that the March date was snowed out.

It's official! The votes have been counted, and the Senior Superlatives are tallied. They are as follows: class couple, Doug Raymond and Phyllis Keyser, class flirts, Julie Jay and Bill York; friendliest, Denise Bailey and Tom Griffith; best dressed, Debbie Costa and Glen Taylor; class clowns, Belinda Cox and Tony Guisola.

Most likely to join the establishment, Brenda Gollwitzer and Dan McClure. Most likely to prosper, Brenda Gollwitzer and Al Cicotte.

Class jocks (athletes), Bill Levy and Mike Dansard; musicians, Gayle Thompson and Keith Hubbs; busy bodies, Reia Clark and Dennis Griess; class artists, Barb Bies and Dave Adams; class favorites, Brenda Gollwitzer and Tom Griffith.

Sexiest smile, Robin Lorentson and Dan Statham.

The election was conducted by the Tiger Print for the Senior Last Daze supplement to appear in late May or early June. Congratulations to the winners!

Baseball season is not far off, judging by the fact players can be seen swinging bats and throwing the old horsehide back and forth. The disturbing sight was seeing them work out in the snow drifts.

The juniors have completed their candy sale and "raked" in enough to turn the treasury a nice spring green.

"Mame" is going ahead. The cast is learning the lines, the chorus is learning the songs, the orchestra is learning the score and the crews are busy at work.

Certain objectionable parts of the show were altered at the request of members of the community.

The performances are set for May 10, 11, 12 and 13.

Lady Luck turns face on Romulus

By TOM MOORADIAN

"Lady Luck" just isn't a lady if you ask Romulus High basketball Coach Dave Court.

Because of a twist of fate, Romulus is watching Detroit Southwestern do what River Rouge did to Inkster for four years ... march to the state basketball championship.

Southwestern, which bumped off Romulus in the regional finals, subsequently destroyed top-ranked Ann Arbor Pioneer in the quarter-finals and blasted Pontiac Central on Saturday to reach the state finals.

The finals will be played on Saturday at Ann Arbor in the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

Southwestern is the "Cinderella team" of the 1973 season, but the slipper could have easily slipped onto Court's foot.

The Detroiters had more than their problems with an unprepared Romulus cage team that rushed into a crucial game with little more than 15 minutes preparedness for a variety of reasons. Two of Court's starters also were late dressing against Southwestern.

What has Court to say now after Southwestern has made it into the finals and will meet Saginaw for the State Class A championship. (Game time 2:30 p.m.)

"It's difficult to say how we would play against Ann Arbor or Pontiac Central," said the Romulus coach, "but I would have given anything to be able to have played the Southwestern game all over again."

Be patient, David, time flies - all of us over - forty sports people know it.

And there was no way that the Smith brothers - Vergil and Brad - of Romulus High could escape from becoming outstanding wrestlers.

Both are on this year's All-Area team.

Brad won the state Class A championship recently in the 132-pound class and has "been wrestling since he was in diapers," according to Coach Jim Stallings.

Stallings should know. His brother, Hulon, married Brad's oldest sister, Gail.

"These kids have been wrestling all their life," related Stallings, "and I remember the two boys, who are twins, when they were in their cradle."

"We started them out very young," he said.

There are 11 children in the Smith family, so Stallings should have quite a dynasty coming up? Not really.

"Of the 11, eight of the children are girls," said the Romulus coach, "and we don't have girls' wrestling on the high school level as yet."

We will, Jim, we will. Just be patient.

Wayne's Don Haney named Coach of Year

Whenever followers of high school wrestling in Michigan get together one of the schools which is most prominently mentioned is Wayne Memorial.

The Zebras have gained recognition as a state power in recent seasons and the man who is most responsible for this success is Wayne's veteran head coach, Don Haney.

Wayne's strong and balanced team finished sixth in the Class A State Tournament last month. The Zebras also dominate this season's All-Area team and in light of these accomplishments Haney has been selected as The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' Wrestling Coach of the Year for 1972-73.

This marks the second time that Haney has won the award. He was also honored after the 1969-70 season, his first as the Zebras' full-time head coach.

"I'm very pleased to win the award, particularly because there are so many fine wrestling teams and coaches in this area," said Haney. "Honors like this result from hard work and in receiving such recognition we're also provided with incentive for continued success."

Haney has achieved a great deal of success in his career as a wrestler and a wrestling coach.

He won two state wrestling championships at Canonsburg (Pa.) High School, where he also played baseball and football.

DON HANEY
"Coach of Year"

Don then went on to the University of Michigan, where he won one Big Ten championship at 147 pounds and finished second in the conference meet on two other occasions.

He also won several titles in AAU competition.

Haney went into teaching upon graduation and in 1959 he helped Wayne Memorial launch its wrestling program.

Don continued to provide part-time coaching to the Zebra grapplers during the next decade. But in the fall of 1969-70 he was persuaded to accept the position as head coach.

The Zebras won the Sauk Trail Conference title in Haney's first full season and he was honored as The Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year upon the completion of the campaign. More championships followed in the ensuing seasons until Wayne really made its mark this past season.

The Zebras opened their season with a victory over defending state champion Detroit Catholic Central.

Haney's grapplers went on to compile a 13-2 dual meet record with the losses coming at the hands of powerful

Romulus' state champ tops selections

Ranked among the top Class A wrestling teams in the state during the recently concluded campaign, Wayne Memorial and Romulus combined to provide the 1973 mythical All-Area first team 11 of the 12 wrestlers.

Led by state champ Brad Smith, who has the distinction of becoming the first wrestler in Romulus High history to earn a gold medal in Class A state competition, this year's team would take second place to none in the state.

Brad, who outwrestled area rival, Belleville's Jose Garcia to win the 132-pound class state championship, compiled a phenomenal 42-4-1 won-lost record this season.

"He is the best wrestler I have coached," admitted Romulus Coach Jim Stallings, "and he is the first wrestler in our school's history to win a state title. He's done an excellent job."

Among Brad's teammates who were awarded All-Area recognition are Vergil Smith, Brad's brother. Vergil was given the nod in the 145-pound class. Also honored are: Phillip Ford (112), Robert Morrison (167), Marvin Williams (185) and heavyweight Henry Reid, all from Romulus.

Wayne is represented by Mike Guerrero (98), Dale Statuesman (105), Bob Colaianne (119), Larry Silvestri

Zebra matmen pace All-Area team

to Romulus, won the state AAU Junior title in 1971 and also placed in eight tournaments this season.
Romulus, which had a 10-3 dual meet record while competing as an independent, was afforded a fifth place rating in the state. The record was the best in Stallings' six-year tenure as the Eagle coach.
"We've been improving every year," he said, "and we hope to win it next year."

If that dream is to materialize, Romulus will have to step over Wayne Memorial which has a flock of impressive young wrestlers back.
Coach Don Haney, whose Zebras finished sixth in the state, have juniors Bullard (138) and Silbestri (126) returning to their lineup. And the two were among the best in the state this year.
Bullard, in garnering a 37-6 dual meet record, a second place in the state at the 138 pound class and Silbestri, a third place state finisher in the 126-pound class and Silbestri, a third place state finisher in the 126-pound class, have already earned statewide recognition.

"Bullard is the best man I know on his feet," said Haney, "and the smoothest wrestler I have ever coached."
The 138-pound junior had a 37-6 won-lost season which included the Mid-Wayne Conference championship. He qualified from the district to place third in the regionals, then moving up a notch in the state finals.

Silbestri amassed a 37-5 won-lost record en route to the league championship. After qualifying for the regionals from the tough Bedford-Temperance district he finished third in the state in the 126-pound class.
"He has as much potential as anyone I've ever coached at Wayne High," said Haney, "and we expect a lot from him next year."

Stutesman was voted the Zebras' most dedicated wrestler and ended his prep mat career with a 35-6 over-all record and a league title. He finished second at the regionals but found the going rough in state competition. Teammate, Guerrero wound up his second year on the varsity with a 34-7 won-lost record and the league title.
"Mike is one of the most improved wrestlers we had on the team this year and we expect bigger and better things from him next year," said the Wayne coach.

Colainne, who'll back up from no one, is the only sophomore to break into the first team this year. A 119-pounder who made the Zebra varsity in mid-season, had a 11-4 over-all record and finished second in the league. He qualified from the districts and placed fourth in the regionals.
"Bob is the hardest working wrestler we had out this year," said Haney, "barring injuries, we feel he will be a top candidate for state honors next year."

Haney's Zebras posted a 13-2 over-all record this season, in winning the Mid-Wayne Conference championship. The Zebras also won eight consecutive tournaments before heading into the tough districts at Bedford, where they also placed first.
At Bedford, five of the six top teams in the state were pitted against one another. Though they finished second to Ypsilanti at the regionals held at Walled Lake Western, the Zebras wound up sixth in the state.

Mink is not only an outstanding athlete but he also excels in the classroom where he has compiled an A minus record.
The 17-year-old senior, who made the All-Area team last year, finished second in the state after losing to Schwartz Creek's Mark Whaley 5-0 in the finals.
Bob was afforded third string All-State recognition. He piled up a 35-5 over-all record, winning the league title in the 155-pound class. After qualifying from the tough Bedford district, Bob won the regional title in his weight class.
"He's an athlete-scholar in the truest sense of the word," said Coach Bob Lusk, "and, needless to say, we're going to miss him next year."

Senior Jim Schnurr of Cambria Heights, N.Y., reached the 1,000-point mark in basketball for Holy Cross in a game against Georgetown this season.

State runner-up tops 2nd team

MARK FOX

BILL GOEN

When you're runnerup in the state you should have no problem making the All-Area team, right?
Well, yes ... most of the time. But this wasn't one of those times for Belleville senior Jose Garcia, who finished with the silver medal in the Class A state finals in the 132-pound class.
Garcia, who climaxed an outstanding prep mat career at Belleville, was nosed out for first time honors when he lost to Romulus' Brad Smith at the state finals.
Smith got the nod by virtue of his 8-3 victory over Jose in the state finals.

Garcia, who has appeared on All-Area teams for an unprecedented three straight years, "ranks among the best wrestlers in the school's history," Coach Gerald Malecek said.
"He is a fine athlete who has a lot of self-discipline and I feel he can develop into an outstanding collegiate wrestler."

"I know he has the potential," said Malecek.
Others named to the All-Area team are: Ken Arble (98), John Glenn Pat Mullin (105), Livonia Churchill; Bob Horvath (112), Garden City West; Randy Steckroth (119), GC West; Pat Cundiff (126), GC West; Duane Wozniak (138), GC West; Mark Fox (145), Wayne Memorial; Bill Goen (155) Wayne Memorial; Cliff McClellan (167), GC West; Mickey Stein (185), John Glenn and Mike Vega, heavy weight, Wayne Memorial.
Of the 12 weight classes, Garden City wrestlers filled five of them. Coach Dean Shipman's Tigers, who were runnerup in Tri-River Conference this season, have the nucleus of an outstanding team for the community year.

Three juniors - Steckroth, Cundiff and Wozniak will be returning. The other two, Horvath and McClellan, will graduate in June.
McClellan wound up his senior year with a 39-8 over-all record which included the league title and a fourth place finish in the regional. He earned three varsity stripes.
"When Cliff came to us from Radcliff he was a basketball player," said Shipman, "so we began at the beginning with him and he turned out to be one of our better wrestlers. He's very coachable and may attend either Ferris or Olivet College."

Horvath completed two years of varsity competition with an 18-8 over-all record and also with the league title. He failed to get out of the district's tough.
"Bob didn't wrestle in his sophomore year. If he had had more experience, he would have been an outstanding wrestler," said shipman.
Cundiff has the potential to become a formidable opponent on the mats next year, according to the West coach.

MIKEY STEIN

CLIFF MCCLELLAN

He won the Garden City Novice Invitational. He had a 14-10 record and was one of the Tigers' district qualifiers.
"He has a lot of fortitude and stamina," said Shipman of this 138-pound wrestler.
"Duane is a well-disciplined wrestler who can go far next year."
Wayne has three representatives on the second team, including Goen, who reached the state class A semi-finals before a knee injury caught up to him.
Bill made the second team also last year and he brings to the 1973 team an impressive 43-4 record which includes the league title and a second place in the regionals.
Goen recorded 36 falls and fell short of the national record of 38 which is now held by a Michigan wrestler.
"By far, Bill is the best pinner Wayne has ever had and probably ever will have," said Coach Don Haney, "it's unfortunate that he had to default in the semis because of that knee injury."

Fox is the lone sophomore on the second team and has had an outstanding inaugural year as a member of Haney's Zebras. The 145-pounder made it out of the districts into the regionals where it was his last stop of the season.

Bedford-Temperance and Ypsilanti.
The Zebras, who rolled to the final Mid-Wayne League title, were ranked among the top teams in the State Coaches poll throughout the season.
Wayne earned post-season honors when it won the championship at the tough Bedford District Tournament and finished second to Ypsilanti at the formidable Walled Lake Western Regional.
Wayne gained sixth place at the state meet on the strength of John Bullard's second place finish at 141 pounds and Larry Silvestri's third place showing at 126 pounds.
"I'm very proud of what our wrestlers did this season and I think we can produce similar results in the years to come," said Haney.
Don has built a program which is well-supported by Wayne's student body and fans and he also commands a squad which rates high in terms of both quantity and quality.
"We had 48 boys turn out for the first practice this year and 45 of them stayed with us for the whole season," reported Haney. "This shows a tremendous dedication and it doesn't stop in March because most of these kids continue to work and train the year round."

Haney is already looking forward to the 1973-74 season.
"We'll only be losing three seniors and we'll also have the use of new and improved mat facilities, something which I've been pushing for for several years," said Don.
Needless to say, the Zebra wrestlers and their Coach of the Year have every reason to look forward to continued success.

Bob Solomon and Mike Rogers, the lone seniors on the 1972-73 Wayne State University basketball team, were voted honorary co-captains by their teammates.

14 swimmers honored as All-Area

They're as good as any team in state

Pick an All-Area team that could compete for the state Class A swimming & diving championships?

No problem. Just draft five of Livonia Franklin's outstanding swimmers: Brad Kenny, John Kortesoja, Tom Segasser, Dave Balnaves, then add four of Garden City East's stellar performers - Dale Swezene, Mark Cooper, Jeff Blanchard and Jim Josefowski, sprinkle the lineup with holdovers from last year's mythical team as Belleville's Dean Ackron and Jeff Liedel plus Cherry Hill's Tom O'Hagan, John Glenn's Paul Barbu, and then add diver Lance Webber to the roster and, coach, you have a state title contender. These 13 high school swimmers and diver were selected by the coaches as the cream of the swimming crop in the area for 1973.

And the prep swimmers have ample credentials to qualify for such honors. For example, Ackron, a familiar face to previous All-Area teams stroked a 1:51.3 for the 200-yard freestyle and has produced a 2:13.2 for the 200-yard individual medley. He also has been clocked in 23.5 for the 50 freestyle and 55.7 for the 100-yard butterfly.

Dean has churned out a 50.5 and 4:05.0 for the 100 and 400 yard freestyle events.

Also impressive is Balnaves, who helped keep the Patriots in the thick of the Northwest Suburban Conference title race. He has a 1:58.1 clocking for the 200-yard freestyle and a 2:10.2 for the individual medley.

Dave's performances in the 100-yard butterfly (1:00.4), 100-yard freestyle (52.5), and 400-yard freestyle (4:09.5) also made him one of the most versatile performers on the Patriot squad.

With John Kortesoja, Dave Foley and Tom Segasser,

Balnaves combined to finish 11th in the state class A finals for the 400-yard freestyle, establishing a school record and gave the area the only points scored in the state meet.

O'Hagan was Tri-River Conference champ in the 200-yard individual medley, the 100-yard backstroke and the medley relay and as a four-year varsity letterman scored 405 points. He was All-League and All-Area for the past two years and holds three school records, four varsity and three pools.

Webber is making his first appearance on the All-Area honor roll. And one can bet it won't be his last. He averaged 231.0 points per meet and also won the Mid-Wayne Conference diving title for the last two years.

The 17-year-old diver strung together 29 consecutive victories this year which also included titles at the Garden City East and Western Wayne Invitational.

Swezene is the most promising swimmer to come on the Garden City East scene for quite some years. He has constantly won two events for Coach Ron Clifton's Panthers and can go the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events in 22.5 and 50.4, respectively. Dale has been clocked in 1:01.0 for the 100-yard butterfly and also has helped to produce a 1:46.2 in the 200-yard medley relay.

Teammates Blanchard and Cooper have also helped form the nucleus for the East team that won both the Western Wayne Invitational and retained its own invitational title.

Cooper and Blanchard are included in the medley relay team that has been clocked with a 1:46.2, moreover, Cooper has been clocked in 1:59.3 and 4:17.7 for the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events. He has covered the 200 individual medley in 2:15.5.

Blanchard, also a holdover from last year's team, has a respectable 2:13.2 for the 200-yard individual medley and clockings of 56.6 and 58.3 for the 100-yard butterfly and 100-yard backstroke.

Barbu is making an unprecedented third appearance on the mythical team. The Glenn senior climaxed his prep career with a 58.1 for the 100-yard butterfly and also has stroked 51.8 and 1:06.6 for the 100-yard freestyle and breaststroke events.

All-area '5' next week

Segasser was also a key figure in Franklin's unsuccessful bid for the league title. However, the third year varsity man finished second in the league in the 200-yard freestyle. His best time for the event was a 1:56.5. He also has been timed in 2:17.1 and 4:13.9 for the 200-yard individual medley and the 400-yard freestyle.

Kortesoja's credentials include a 23.4 for the 50-yard freestyle and a 51.8 for the 100-yard freestyle events. Teammate Kenny has performed in 1:56.7 and 4:04.2 for the 200-yard freestyle and 400-yard events and also produced a 1:03.5 for the 100-yard backstroke.

The only other Franklin swimmer to make the grade, Foley, had a 23.5 for the 50-yard freestyle and a 53.4 for the 100-yard freestyle.

East's Josefowski can cover the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:09.9 and was a member of Coach Ron Clifton's 200-yard medley relay that was clocked in 1:46.2.

Swim mentor is 'perfect'

Cherry Hill's Pawloski earns top coach award

Jerry Pawloski of Cherry Hill has been chosen as the The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' Swimming Coach of the Year for 1972-73.

Pawloski, who has coached Cherry's Hill's swimming team since the school started the sports in 1967-68, has compiled an impressive list of credentials which earned him the Coach of the Year Award.

The most notable of these achievements is the Spartans' streak of 43 consecutive dual meet wins, the longest in the state at present.

Jerry's Cherry Hill swimmers have also won four consecutive Tri-River League championships.

The citation is the second for Pawloski. He was also named Coach of the Year in 1970-71.

"It's an honor to win this award and I think it's something our swimmers should be proud of because they all played a part in our success and this provides them with some more recognition," said the 30-year old Pawloski upon learning that he had been named Coach of the Year.

Jerry is very familiar with successful athletic programs.

A native of Detroit, he was a football star at Holy Redeemer High School. The school was recognized as the state Class B champion in Pawloski's senior year, 1960. The coach of that powerful grid team was none other than Joe LaScola, the current head football coach at Cherry Hill.

Pawloski continued his football career at the University of Buffalo, where he played three varsity campaigns as an offensive and defensive end.

Jerry earned All-East recognition as a junior in 1963 and he was one of the Bulls' co-captains the following fall. But his gridiron career came to an end when he suffered a serious knee injury midway through the 1964 campaign.

Jerry's running mate at defensive end at UB was Gerry Philbin, who went on to earn All-Pro honors with the New York Jets and is now plying his trade with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Following his graduation Pawloski accepted a position as a science teacher at Cherry Hill. He also continued his involvement in athletics as a member of the staff in football, basketball, and baseball.

Cherry Hill instituted a swimming program in the fall of 1967 and Jerry, who had no experience in competitive swimming, took the job as coach.

"During that first season I gave myself a crash course on the sport," he recalled. "I learned a lot from talking with veteran coaches and I also did some extensive reading on the subject."

Pawloski obviously learned his lessons well.

The Spartans compiled a 5-3 record in their initial swimming campaign.

The 1968-69 team followed with a 12-3 record and the 1969-70 edition went 13-3.

The Spartans lost their first two meets of 1970-71, to Dearborn Heights and Annapolis and Ypsilanti, and then reeled off 13 straight wins.

Pawloski's swimmers have gone 15-0 in each of the last two seasons and it's likely that next year's edition will add to the 43-meet streak.

Among the highlights of the just completed season were triumphs over powerful Allen Park and Dearborn Fordson and second place finishes at the Western Wayne Championship Meet and the Garden City East Invitational.

Pawloski and George Speir, who coaches the swimming team at John Hill Junior High and also assists with the Spartans, have plans which should lead to continued swimming success at Cherry Hill.

"We have a proposal for a year-round swimming club before the Board of Education," said Pawloski. "If it's approved it will provide us with a year-round program and this will help us in our goal of becoming competitive with the top teams in the state."

All-area 2nd team

"Once Mark develops some explosiveness, he's going to be the strongest man in his weight class," said Haney.

Vega rounded out his second year on the varsity team with a 11-4 over-all record. He was second in the league and his claim to stardom was his victory over top-seeded

Bedford Temperance

heavyweight Dale Dittl.

"For a small heavyweight,

(Mike's only 195) he was able to take on much bigger opponents and fare well with them," the Wayne Coach related.

Stein and Arble represent

Coach Bob Lusk's Rockets on this year's selections.

Stein, a senior who has had an outstanding year, earned the league title in qualifying for the regionals.

"We're sorry to see Mickey go," said Lusk, "and I feel that he would have accomplished a lot more this year if a broken ankle he suffered as a junior didn't hamper him."

Arble will be around next year. He had piled up a 30-8 record and captured the league title.

"Ken improved tremendously in one year and we expect a lot from him next year," said the Rocket mentor.

Mullin becomes the first wrestler in the history of

Churchill High to make the

All-Area team. A junior who carries a 21-4 over-all record,

Pat has a year of competition ahead of him.

"He was our most consistent wrestler," said Coach Jim

Barr, "he's a hard-worker and

I know he's going to do well

next year."

Pat has a career record of 31-9-2 and also pinned 13 of his opponent. He presently holds

13 Churchill records and should make a clean sweep of Charger records before ending his prep career.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Present day leaders and politicians may well ponder Woodrow Wilson's words of 1919 ... "The select classes of mankind are no longer the governors of mankind. The fortunes of mankind are now in the hands of the plain people of the whole world. Fail to satisfy them, and no arrangement that you can make will either set up or steady the peace of the world." ... Later in 1919 he added, "Have you ever reflected, my fellow countrymen, on the real source of revolution? Revolutions do not spring up overnight. Revolutions come from the long suppression of the human spirit. Revolutions come because men know they have rights and they are disregarded." ... President Woodrow Wilson was an historian. Also a prophet; he predicted World War II. His words cause us to wonder when the billion or more people captivated by communism in a half century will through revolution attempt to break their bondage. It may happen sooner than we think ...
